

Biography

Meet John James Santangelo. His infectious spirit, his sense of balance, and his ability to entertain while teaching will offer all participants an exciting and enriching experience.

From the early age of 15 years old as a professional entertainer, he went on to become a Toastmaster award recipient, a Certified Health and Fitness Instructor, a volunteer 'Big Brother' of the Big Brother and Sisters of America Association, spokesperson for the Make-AWish foundation, a College Graduate with Honors achieving his PhD in Clinical Hypnotherapy. And now a Trainer in (NLP) Neuro-Linguistic Programming, and 30 years experience as a successful entrepreneur to currently a professional speaker, author, and results coach! Visit his website: www.LANLP.com

John is founder of LANLP Seminars, an NLP certification training company, dedicated to teaching people how to unleash their personal power, maximize their potential so they can produce outstanding results. John is considered to be an exceptional speaker because he gives audiences not only the "what to do" but also the "how to do it," enabling them to succeed in any area of their lives.

His interactive, exciting workshops empower participants to continuously reach for higher levels of performance and make the changes necessary to achieve any of their goals. In his presentations, John will show you how the process of transformation itself happens, producing a completely new perspective, which allow more opportunities. Learn how to develop new paradigms of thinking that are congruent with the volume, speed and complexity of change in today's fastpaced world. John now customizes communication and sales trainings for individuals and businesses. He has the knowledge, experience and the enthusiasm to help you create and develop the passion for your success!

Most requested topics include;
"Secrets of Seductive Selling"
"Communication Skills Mastery"
"Speak Up With Power & Influence"

NLP Training Center of Los Angeles / www.LANLP.com / (818) 879-2000